Letter from the Editors

---

Hello, Readers!

We here at FaveCrafts think toilet paper rolls get a bad rap. Sure, they're just small pieces of cardboard that reside in a bathroom and ultimately end up in a recycle bin. However, if you do a little more investigating, you'll find that this supply can be invaluable for frugal crafters. Believe it or not, there are so many uses for toilet paper rolls, some of which might not seem so obvious. From florals wall hangings to feminine bracelets, cardboard toilet paper rolls serve an important crafty purpose. Adults and kids alike can learn the value of green crafting by recycling toilet paper rolls and using them for craft projects.

The next time you sit down to create a new project, dip into your recycle bin and grab a few empty toilet paper rolls. Let your imagination be your guide as you create brand new items from a commonly discarded material. It's time to save big and get creative with toilet paper rolls ... what will you make first?

Creative Toilet Paper Roll Crafts

Toilet Paper Roll Sunflowers

By: Melissa for The Hob-bee Hive

Made from painted toilet paper rolls, these colorful sunflowers are a great way to decorate your wall. The great thing about this design is that you can make these Toilet Paper Roll Sunflowers as big or as small as you like. They're also very lightweight, so they won't create large holes in your wall. Paint your sunflowers or leave them as is for a natural look.

Materials:

- 7-10 toilet paper rolls
- Paint
- 2 coffee cups
- Knitting needle
- Tape (optional)
- Hot glue gun and glue sticks

Instructions:

1. Measure the space where you want your flower to be. You'll need to know how wide your space is so you know how large to make your flower.
2. Next, cut up all toilet paper rolls. The amount you need will depend on how big your flower is. For a flower about 24" wide, use 7 toilet paper rolls and 1 paper towel roll. One toilet paper roll should yield you anywhere from 14-16 petals.
3. To make your petals, flatten your toilet paper roll.
4. Cut slices about 1/2 inch wide. It's helpful to build your flower as you cut so you don't cut extra toilet paper rolls that you can use later on!

16 Toilet Paper Roll Craft Ideas

5. Make sure you take a picture of your design so you have something to refer to when it's time to assemble your flower.

6. Paint petals before you cut them...that way you can paint the cut part of the paper as well. If you'd rather paint the rolls before you cut them, go right ahead. Either way will work.
7. To paint the petals, turn two coffee cups upside down and tape a long knitting needle to the bottom of the cups. After you paint a petal, put it on the needle to dry. The paint washes off the needle with soap and water, but if you're worried about your needles, you could also use a stick, rod, or pencil to dry your petals.

16 Toilet Paper Roll Craft Ideas

8. Once your petals are dry, you can start gluing them together. With a hot glue gun, add a little dab of glue to one side of the petal and begin creating the inside of your flower.

9. You can then begin gluing petals between the spaces of your starter flower until it's as big as you want it to be.

10. You can also make 5 different flowers rather than one large one.

Eco Green Tea Light Holder

By: Maria Chatzi

Kids and adults alike will love this Eco Green Tea Light Holder. Made with 100 percent recycled items, this tea light holder is great for parties, weddings, or everyday use. Gather up those toilet paper rolls and get ready to make something beautiful!

Materials:

- Old CD
- Toilet paper roll
- Glue
- Paper bag or other non-glossy paper ( I used an old envelop from my office)
- 8 small white pearls and 8 bigger ones
- A jar lid (it's diameter has to be larger than that of the ends of the toilet paper roll)
- Any kind of white doily (cotton or synthetic or paper)
- Tea light candle
- Scissors
- Pencil
- Glue
- Ruler

Instructions:

1. Take the paper you've chosen, and wrinkle it with your hands. Spread it back out again without pressing out the wrinkles you've made. Repeat once more.
2. Now take your jar lid and glue it, top side down, on the wrinkled paper. Use your ruler and your pencil to mark a circle around your lid that leaves at least 0.7 inches extra paper (you will need this later). Wait for the glue to harden and then cut with your scissors on this circle.
3. After that, glue your CD on the wrinkled paper. Wait till the glue dries and trim with your scissors.

16 Toilet Paper Roll Craft Ideas

4. Put some glue all around the side of the jar lid and turn the paper inwards (to the bottom side of the lid). Use your fingers to keep it there for a while, so that the glue will harden. Press paper in excess, to keep it under the lid when the lid's placed top side up.
5. Glue the lid on the CD, top side up.
6. While waiting for the glue to dry, take the toilet paper roll and place it on a desk/table standing on one end. Use your pencil and ruler to mark 0.6 inches from the bottom – draw this line all around the paper roll.
7. With your scissors, cut 8 strips all along the long side of the paper roll, up to the point you reach the line you just drew. These strips should all have the same width (you should divide the circle of the paper roll end in eight equal parts, mark the eight points and then start cutting your strips).
8. When you've finished with cutting the strips, take your scissors and cut their ends so that they look like pointed leaves.
9. Open the strips a bit, bending them outwards gently. The toilet paper roll should now look like a crown.
10. Take your pencil and roll the leaves around it one by one, making them curly, till you reach the line you drew before and where you've stopped cutting. What looked like a crown before should now look like a flower.
11. Place this flower-like design on top of the lid, in the center of it. Put glue all around the inside circular base of the paper roll flower, so that it would be firmly secured to the lid when the glue hardens.
12. Glue the white pearls all around the lid, on the CD – start with a small one first, followed by a larger one. Wait for the glue to dry completely.
13. Cut 8 doily leaves, 1.8 inches long each, and glue them onto the “petals” of your paper flower candle holder, as shown in the picture. Wait for the glue to dry.

Cute Mini Scrapbook

By: Cynthia Gagen

This scrapbooking idea is fun and easy enough for beginners. It's a great way to remember important events in your life.

Materials:

- Toilet paper tubes
- Large binder clips
- Paint
- Paper towel
- Hole puncher
- Embellishments of your choice

Instructions:

1. You need to start by flattening your tubes. Each tube makes a page. I found that 6 tubes was pretty much the maximum I could get in a book without it being much too bulky. If you're planning to add quite a few 3D embellishments, you may want to cut this back to 4. I began by just "smashing" the tubes with my hands and then making better creases with a bone folder. I found it helpful then to place the tubes under a stack of heavy books for a day or two to flatten further. Using some of those large binder clips on them also helped. They generally won't get 100% flat but by the time you cover them and bind them, I find they are flat enough for this purpose.

16 Toilet Paper Roll Craft Ideas

2. The next step was to create some papers to cover my pages with. I used a method based on something I saw from Traci Bautista. I covered a tray with freezer paper, shiny side up. I found that putting it on a tray rather than flat on your work surface worked really well to contain the paints and keep them from running all over and making a mess. Then, I just dribbled acrylic craft paints all over the surface of the freezer paper. I did it randomly but you can also apply the paint in simple designs. Sprinkle the surface with some glitter and then spray with water to allow the colors to run, soften and blend into each other a bit. Lay a piece of paper towel over the top of the painted surface. I even save the paper towels that I have used to wipe up some paint spills or clean my brushes on and further color these in this method. You may want to brayer over the paper towel – or as I often do, just use your fingers to press the paper towel into the paints and spread them around more. I spray on top of the paper towel with some more water – this will get the colors blending even further. You can even add some more paints and glitter at this point. More pressing and “brayering” and then when I’m happy with how the paper looks, I lift it off onto another surface (I find wax paper or old newspapers work well) to dry. Often without even applying any more paint, I’ll find that I have enough paint to apply another layer or two of paper towels and get more prints from this one painting. You may want to spray more water on to loosen up any of the paints that may have started to dry a bit.

3. Once these have dried, they stiffen a bit and become quite a bit stronger than before. If you’re using 2 ply (or more) paper towels, sometimes you can even separate the plies into layers (I find this easiest to do when they’re still damp) and that will give you more bang for your buck AND thinner, more translucent layers to work with. If you keep the paper towels intact, as I said, they will become stronger than before and they will now hold up to techniques like adding stitching to them. I used Liquitex Gel Medium to glue the paper towels to the toilet paper tube pages. The paper towel pages I was using (yes some of them vary in size) were 4 by 2 1/2 inches, so I cut a piece of paper towel that was 5 inches square. That gave me a big enough piece to wrap around both sides of the tube and a little overlap on each end. I covered both sides of the flattened tube with the gel medium and then wrapped the paper towel around to cover it. On each end where the opening of the tube is, I would apply a little of the gel medium about 1/4 to 1/2 inch on the inside of the tube so I could fold the ends of the paper towel piece into each end so the edges would look finished as well.

4. I punched holes in one end of the page. A regular paper hole punch worked fine for this as long as I only did one page at a time. I found that wire worked the best to assemble the pages into a book as I could get a nice tight hold with the wire that not only held the book together securely but also assisted in further flattening the book. One of the nice benefits of this style of book is that because you're starting with tubes, once you bind one end of the tubes, you are still left with an opening at the other end of each one. That opening is perfect for sliding a tag inside, giving you yet another surface/page to your book. Here, I'm using laminate counter samples that I got from a home improvement store. My plan is to finish decorating the pages with embellishments and photographs or images and then adhering paper to the tags to make a writing surface for the journaling.

Easter Bunny Napkin Rings

By: Mama King of 4 Crazy Kings

Mama King shares this fabulous idea with us for creating Easter bunny napkin rings with little more than felt and a toilet paper rolls. These Easter bunny napkin rings are a great project to make with kids.

Materials:

- Felt
  - 1 strip of felt to cover roll
  - 2 ears
  - 2 ear inserts
  - 2 eyes
  - 1 nose
  - 1 set teeth
- Paper Towel or Toilet Paper Roll cut about 2" wide
- Glue or Glue Gun
- Scissors

Instructions:

1. Glue strip around roll first. If you are using regular craft glue clothes pins come in handy to hold the felt down as it dries.
2. Glue inserts into ears. I added a bead a glue to the base of the ears after assembled and folded in half. I clothes pinned it to the roll.
3. Folding in half at base allows ear to open face forward.
4. Glue on features. If desired you can cut out a rounded v shaped notch for mouth area and glue teeth behind.
5. When dry - fold napkin into a square. Hold like a diamond.

Firecracker Craft for Kids

By: Marie LeBaron of Make and Takes

If your kids can't wait until the Fourth of July to light up a few fireworks, then this Firecracker Craft is the perfect way to celebrate early. Bubble wrap is placed inside, making a great popping noise maker. This is a fun and easy patriotic craft the kids will go bonkers for.

Materials:

- Bubble wrap - hopefully you have some left over from a package that came to your house.
- Toilet paper roll - start saving a few of these as they always come in handy for crafting projects.
- Pipe cleaners - these are also great to have handy.
- Decorations - paint, markers, paper, stickers, tissue paper, etc...
- Scissors
- Glue/Tape/Stapler

Instructions:

1. First tape both ends of the pipe cleaner to each end of the Firecracker. You could staple the pipe cleaner in place as well. Then twist your pipe cleaner together for more of a fuse look.

16 Toilet Paper Roll Craft Ideas

2. Then roll up a 2" X 3" size of bubble wrap. Using a little glue or tape, stick it into your empty toilet paper roll. I just taped mine on the top and the bottom. The tape is going to get covered with your decorations anyway.

3. For the decorations, you can paint them with red, white, and blue paint. Or glue on paper. Or use markers to make a flag or stars. We even cut a little orange tissue paper and simply stuck them to the tops of the fuse to make it look like it was ready to blow!

Toilet Paper Roll Bracelet

By: Maria Chatzi

This beautiful bracelet is a great recycled project to make. Girls of all ages will love decorating these cute bracelets, and they're great to wear anytime, since they're lightweight and fun!

Materials:

- A toilet paper roll
- Paper bag
- A piece of cotton or synthetic doily with a flowery design, color: light blue
- Light blue organza ribbon, 0.3 inches wide and 44 inches long
- Jeans fabric, 4.3 inches long and 1.8 inches wide, color: preferably dark blue
- Pure cotton fabric, 4.3 inches long and 1.86 inches wide, color: beige/dark sand
- 3 small white pearls
- Scissors
- Pencil
- Ruler
- Paper punch
- Glue

Instructions:

1. Take your scissors and cut your toilet paper roll open (from one end to the other). Measure and cut 2/3 of the length of the paper roll you've just cut open. Put this larger piece aside for a while. Do not flatten it. It should stay curved enough to wrap around your wrist, leaving an open space – ends should not meet. This is going to be used as the base of your cuff. Flatten the remaining 1/3 of the paper with your hands, fold it in half on its wide side and cut it with your scissors. You should have two equal smaller pieces.

16 Toilet Paper Roll Craft Ideas

2. Take one of these halves (save the other half for another project) and cut it lengthwise into 3 identical strips. Use your scissors to make a fringe on all three strips. To continue, cut a piece of paper from your paper bag that measures a little more than twice the dimensions of the paper roll cuff base. Crumple the paper bag piece twice and spread it out twice. Then wrap it around your cuff base. Use glue to secure it. Hold it in place with your fingers till the glue has dried. Mark with two dots the place where you're going to make the holes for the ribbon, on both ends of your cuff. Distance between dots should be 1.1 - 1.2 inches.

3. Open the holes on both ends of your cuff (for the ribbon) with the paper punch.
4. Glue the jeans fabric onto the top (or outer) surface of your cuff and the cotton fabric on the bottom (or inside) surface that will come in contact with your skin (pure cotton prevents allergies). Wait for the glue to harden.

16 Toilet Paper Roll Craft Ideas

5. Roll all three fringe strips, one by one, to make flowers. Begin with a tiny blob of glue on one end of the strip, continue with two or three more tiny blobs of glue while rolling and finish with a last blob of glue on the other end of the fringe strip.
6. After the flowers have been rolled up, hold each one of them between your fingers for a few minutes to make sure the glue has hardened.
7. When the glue has dried, glue them onto the jeans fabric, in the center of your cuff (fringe side up). Position them on the points of an imaginary triangle. Keep them in place by pressing them gently with your fingers, till the glue hardens and is completely dry – this is VERY important because, if done in haste, you will ruin the project.

8. Open their petals and glue a white pearl in the center of each flower. Wait, again, till the glue is dry.
9. Cut out two flowers from your light blue flowery doily piece. Glue them onto the jeans fabric, on the right and left sides of your cuff.
10. Now cut your organza ribbon in four equal pieces. Knot-tie these four ribbon pieces in the holes you've made before – one ribbon for each hole.
11. Hold the two organza ribbons on each cuff end in your hands and knot-tie them together, as close to the cuff as possible.
12. Your cuff is ready. Wear it around your wrist by tying a pretty bow with all four ribbons.
